Three men already arraigned

Alioto urges new hunt for all Zebra suspects

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto pressed today for an additional $5,000 reward in order to apprehend additional suspects in the 12 "Zebra" killings.

Three young black men were arraigned Friday on murder and conspiracy charges in the random street killings which began five months ago and resulted in the biggest police manhunt in the city's history. All the victims have been white.

Four other suspects arrested in massive police raids earlier in the week were released for insufficient evidence.

Alioto returned from Washington Friday night after asking Attorney General William Saxbe to help in the investigation, which the mayor said may be linked to 80 unsolved murders in California.

Saxbe promised to give "all the assistance" he can during his meeting with Alioto Friday morning, according to a government spokesman. The FBI, however, issued a prepared statement just before that meeting saying the Zebra killings were "not within the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI."

Alioto told reporters before meeting with Saxbe he was going to ask for a "very heavy" federal involvement in the "interstate phase" of the investigation. This was related to travel from San Francisco to a mid-western city, Alioto said. He would give no more details.

Fifty minutes later Alioto, finding the hallway jammed with 30 newsmen waiting to question him, tersely said, "We asked for help and hope to get it. He said he would consider it and let me know."

Alioto believes the murders are the work of a terrorist "Death Angels" cult, which may extend to other states.

"We are going to continue relentlessly the investigation until we are satisfied that every last person who may be involved is no longer banded together with anyone else," Alioto said.

Arraigned Friday were three Black Muslims with short hair and neat, tailored clothing. Suspects J.C. Simon, 29, and Manuel Moore, 29, both of San Francisco, were charged with two counts of murder, two of assault and one of conspiracy to commit murder. The third, Larry C. Green, 22, was accused of one count of murder and conspiracy and additional charges of kidnapping and robbery.

HANGING ON FOR LIFE

A Montreal, Canada woman, Melrose Akit, stared at death 70 feet below Friday when her new car crashed through the plywood barricade around the excavation of a proposed skyscraper. She had reached across her front seat to close a door and ended up ramming through the barricade. She was later hauled to safety by a rope strung around her by firemen.

350,000 won't accept food

Needy students spurn free meals in schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Of the estimated 1 million California children eligible for free or reduced price school meals, only slightly more than one-half are receiving them, the state Department of Education said Friday.

The department, in a report to the legislature, said that parent reluctance to accept aid and student embarrassment were two reasons why all those eligible were not enjoying the meals.

Other reasons, the report said, include the inability or unwillingness of some districts to participate in the program, the lack of kitchens in some schools and difficulty in securing prepared lunch deliveries in remote areas.

During the 1972-73 school year 649,354 needy children received the meals, the report said, out of an estimated 1 million eligible. More than 350,000 did not take part in the program.

The report said that under the Duffy-Moscone Family Nutrition Education and Services Act of 1970 the state spent $825,000 on the program last year. Federal funds accounted for much more with an average of about 48 cents per meal being paid.

In an effort to extend the lunch program, the department said it was meeting with school administrators and others in an attempt "to convince them of the importance of providing nourishing school meals to pupils."

It also said it was "exploring with private industry the possibility of designing a mobile kitchen that can be used by schools in remote areas."

In addition, the department said it was working with county welfare departments to inform needy families about the availability of the meals.

3-year wage contracts

Steel pact signed

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The country's 10 major basic steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America Friday formally signed new three-year wage contracts which union president I. W. Abel said were "not necessarily inflationary."

Abel admitted, however, the contracts will "cost the companies more." And shortly after the contracts were signed, Republic Steel Corp. — the nation's third largest steelmaker — announced a 8.1 per cent increase in the prices of all steel mill products, effective immediately.

"The increases are no higher than what have been allowed under previous Cost of Living Council rules permitting recovery of increases in the cost of steelmaking materials and services," a Republic spokesman said, "and do not cover all anticipated cost increases expected to occur in May."

A few hours later Armo Steel Corp. also said it was raising its base prices on many products, effective today, but refused to disclose a percentage because of what it called the "distortion" in increases announced by other steel firms.

National Steel Corp., the nation's fourth largest producer, announced a price increase of 6.7 per cent across the board, effective today.

The contracts granted about 400,000 employees of the 10 companies wage increases totaling 67.2 cents an hour over the next three years plus cost-of-living adjustments.

The steel companies have been announcing price increases since federal price restraints were terminated earlier in the week.

The companies said the increases covered only the rise in costs of labor and raw materials, notably tin, scrap, coking coal and energy purchases, in recent months.

Abel agreed, saying the producers had been "under price controls for quite some time, and these are natural cost increases."

4 Chino residents seriously hurt as car slams pole

CHINO — Four Chino residents were seriously injured Friday evening when their car slammed into a telephone pole on Riverside Drive at Cozens Avenue.

Highway Patrol officers said that the accident apparently occurred when the driver of the car, a 17-year-old man, tried to pass another vehicle while going through the intersection.

The car sideswiped another vehicle driven by Raymond F. Nau, 41, of 12964 Cozens Ave., went out of control and hit the utility pole head-on.

Others injured, besides the youth who was driving, were Jerry Lee Poulsten, 35, and Catherine Ann Chilibolost, 20, both of 12668 Third St., and Kathleen Ann Pippin, 17, of 12440 Telephone Ave. All suffered possible internal injuries and broken bones and were hospitalized at Chino General Hospital.

Poulsten was the most seriously injured and his condition late Friday was listed as critical.

6 die in Ireland's 'bloodiest' night

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland's bloodiest night of the year took six lives, including that of a woman soldier, shattering a 10-day relative calm, security officials said Friday.

The deaths Thursday night and early Friday raised to 1,008 the fatality toll in nearly five years of religious and political strife involving majority Protestants, minority Roman Catholics and British army and local security forces.

Five men quietly drinking in a Catholic-owned pub in Belfast's Ormeau Road were blown to bits and 18 injured when three men planted a smoking bomb outside and fled in a car late Thursday, witnesses said.

It was the Northern Ireland's worst bomb incident in 1974. Witnesses said there was no warning and the victims had no chance to escape.

The blast ended a period of uneasy calm across the province, punctured only by minor incidents since the last reported assassination April 22.

Thieves demand $1.2 million ransom for stolen paintings

DUBLIN (UPI) — Police received a note Friday demanding $1.2 million ransom for paintings stolen in history's biggest art raid.

They said the demand, written on notepaper stolen from the home of Sir Alfred Beit, owner of the 19 paintings worth an estimated $20 million, also demanded that four persons jailed in England be transferred to Irish jails.

It said all the paintings would be burned if the demands were not met, police said.

The note was sent to James White, director of Ireland's National Galleries in Dublin. The envelope was postmarked in Belfast, Northern Ireland. Three pages torn from Beit's diary were enclosed, police said.

The ransom note said four paintings — those stolen included masterpieces by Vermeer, Reubens and Velasquez — would be returned when two sisters and two men jailed in England for last year's London car bombings were transferred to jails in Ireland. The other 15 paintings, it said, would be returned when the ransom money was paid.

Earlier, a police spokesman linked the art theft for the first time with Ireland's political violence.

He said similarities were discovered in descriptions and accents of the gang which pulled last week's great art robbery and groups involved in earlier border incidents.

The spokesman said police were mobilized throughout Ireland for a mass search of thousands of hotels and guest houses. But he said there were no positive leads.

Chances of finding policemen for rock concert termed 'slim'

By TONY AULT
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — Police Chief Lee Kolbreck said Friday that the chances are "slim" he will be able to find 240 police officer volunteers to work a proposed July 6 rock concert at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Kolbreck indicated he is in the process of polling his own officers, who will be offered time and a half pay to work the event. Kolbreck said, however, the Ontario Peace Officers Association has already notified the City Council that its members will not work another rock concert like the one staged at the track in April.

The police chief further stated that the Pomona Police Department had also indicated that its officers will not police another event like the "California Jam" of April 6. That event was marked by massive traffic snarls, reported incidents of damage to private property, drug abuse and inadequate sanitary facilities.

Although the City Council voted last week against allowing the July 6 concert, they reversed that decision Thursday night at the urging of OMS officials. By a 3-2 vote, the council decided the concert could be held if Kolbreck could get enough officers to police the expected crowd of 200,000.

Race track officials contend that without the revenue provided by the rock concerts, the outstanding $25 million in bonds on the facility cannot be retired.

Dudley Gray, vice president of the OMS board of directors, told the council Thursday that over $100,000 was netted by the speedway from the April concert, in addition to track improvements such as fencing and stage facilities.

Policing the large crowds at rock events, however, remains the overriding consideration for the Ontario Council. A firm decision on the proposed July 6 event must be made by next Friday.

Cornucopia Productions, promoters of the rock event, have indicated that plans for the concert will have to be cancelled if a permit is not issued by that time.

As he told that Council a week ago, Kolbreck remained adamant Friday that policing of another rock concert is virtually impossible.

"I don't care whether we have 9 or 9,000 officers, we cannot enforce the laws in a crowd that size. It's impossible. There would be no enforcement," he said.

Property tax rate drops, first time in 23 years

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — For the first time in 23 years California's property tax rate has dropped, the state Board of Equalization reported Friday.

The average rate went from $11.46 per $100 of assessed value in 1972-73 to $11.15 in 1973-74. The drop means that on a $20,000 house the average tax would be $362 after the homeowner's exemption.

Board Chairman George R. Reilly attributed the decrease to two sources, one of which was 1972 legislation increasing state aid to education thereby decreasing its reliance on property taxes. The legislation also imposed limits on the growth of local tax rates. Reilly also cited the impact of federal revenue sharing funds.

Statewide, the net taxable assessed value of properties in all counties is $59.6 billion, which by law is 25 per cent of the full market value of the properties, Reilly said.

Sacramento County again led the state, with an average tax rate of $12.91, down from the previous year's high of $13.54. Contra Costa was second at $12.88, down from $13.16, and Alameda was third at $12.82, down from $13.15. The only other county with a rate over $12 in 1973-74 was San Francisco at $12.34, down from $12.60.

Los Angeles County, with an average tax rate of $11.84, down from $11.97 last year, had the greatest net taxable assessed value, $19.3 billion. Alpine County's value, at $12.9 million, was lowest in the state.

Other rates included Fresno $10.41, down from $11.03; Marin $11.46, down from $11.85; Orange $9.89, down from $10.26; Riverside $10.30, down from $10.65; San Bernardino $11.12, down from $11.62; San Diego $10.18, down from $10.62; Santa Barbara $11.23, down from $12.13; and Ventura $10.70, down from $10.93.

Nixon's $5,081 state tax bill paid, report says

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon has paid $5,081 in back taxes, interest and penalties on income earned in his native California, it was announced Friday.

In a two-page statement, the state Franchise Tax Board also said Nixon owed no taxes on his 1973 adjusted gross income for California of $26,136. The 1973 income tax return was the first Nixon had filed in California in 10 years.

"For the years 1947 through 1963, California returns were filed and taxes paid by Richard M. and Patricia R. Nixon," the statement said.

"For the years 1964 through 1968, Mr. and Mrs. Nixon were not residents of California and were not subject to California filing requirements."

Doug Anderson, spokesman for the board, said, however, he could not disclose specifics about 1947-63 returns because he was not permitted to do so under the terms of a waiver of confidentiality granted by Nixon.

Anderson said Nixon's taxes for 1969 were 3,907 with interest of $949 for a total of $4,856 due that year.

In 1970 Nixon owed $137 in taxes, $29 in interest and $39 in penalties for a total of $225.

Nixon owed the state taxes on part of the $250,000 he receives annually as his presidential salary and allowances, on his personal use of government airplanes, on improvements made on his San Clemente estate and on the sale of part of its acreage.

Nixon's deductions in 1973 included $19,833 in California interest expense, presumably on the purchase of his seaside villa, and $11,969 in California taxes such as the property and sales levies.

Con artists charge rock fans to park along S.B. Freeway

ONTARIO — Some young con artists took advantage of the parking problem at the recent California Jam at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

Posing as parking lot attendants, they set up parking lots along the San Bernardino Freeway and charged unwary motorists to park there.

Several of these motorists discovered the hoax after the festival ended and they went looking for their cars which had been towed off the freeway on orders of the California Highway Patrol.

"One man who called said he had paid $5 to park on lot 21," reported Capt. W.C. Jones, area CHP commander. "He ever had a receipt."

Lot 21, however, proved to be along the freeway's east-bound lanes near Milliken Avenue.

Another group of phony attendants set up business along the freeway near Haven Avenue. "A mother called to report her son had paid $4 to park in a quadrangle near the off-ramp," added Jones.

The son had asked these "attendants" if he needed a ticket to park there. The "attendants" then sold him one for $4, he said.

The was another report of a man who paid $2 to park along the freeway.

Jones estimated that 5,000 vehicles were parked along the freeway during the rock concert. About 500 were towed away to storage yards.

Police seek rock hurlers

ETTIWANDA — West End sheriff's deputies continued their search for three men who for no apparent reason began throwing rocks through the windows of the Regina Winery on Base Line Avenue here early Friday morning, injuring a security guard with broken glass.

Deputies said the security guard, Patrick Melvin Boggs of Chino, suffered a cut over the right eye. Boggs told deputies that he fired his service revolver at the men when he heard shots coming from outside the office. Boggs said the man fired in a car after he began firing at them.

The three were in a 1973 green Chevrolet.

Many products to be hiked

Playboy readers, cigarette smokers face higher prices

By United Press International

Cigarettes and sulfur were added Friday to the list of price increases — everything from light bulbs to Playboy magazine — that has been growing since federal restraints ended at midnight Tuesday.

But it was not all one way.

Geo. A. Hormel & Co. Friday cut prices on several of its principal meat products by 7 to 14 per cent, reflecting increased supplies and reduced livestock prices.

Four milling firms reduced the price of flour by 12 per cent in anticipation of a bumper crop.

Philip Morris USA, Loews Corp.'s Lorillard Division and Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp. raised the list price of cigarettes to 70 cents per thousand. The increase adds less than 1 1/2 cents to each pack of 20 cigarettes. Lorillard also posted increases on its chewing tobacco and cigars.

Texasgulf Inc. announced an increase of $5.50 per long ton of sulfur.

Republic steel, the nation's third largest steelmaker, Friday announced a price increase of 8.1 per cent in the wake of the signing of new three-year wage agreements. Other steel firms and copper producers announced price hikes earlier in the week.

Sucrest Corp. boosted the price of industrial sugars by 85 cents a hundredweight. Hoffman-La Roche Inc. boosted the price of vitamin C by 29 per cent and vitamin B1 by 31 per cent. Shaklee Corp., which manufactures a wide range of products from food supplements to household cleaners, announced price increases averaging 13 per cent.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. raised prices on its entire line of incandescent bulbs by about 10 per cent, effective June 1.

Playboy Enterprises increased the price of Playboy magazine 25 cents to 1.25 beginning with the July issue.

Although the oil firms were not affected by the end of federal controls, several industry giants changed their pricing policies.

Marathon Oil Co. Friday increased its gasoline price by 4.3 cents per gallon for the company's dealers and wholesale customers. And Texaco Inc. announced that wholesale prices would be increased by 3 cents a gallon for gasoline, and 2 cents a gallon for diesel fuels, tractor fuels and home heating oil.

Earlier in the week Shell, Standard Oil of Ohio, BP Oil and Skelly boosted prices from 3.2 cents a gallon to 6 cents.

Pair arrested in thefts of meat and cigarettes

UPLAND — A Fontana man and woman have been charged with working as a team to steal meat and cigarettes from Bill's Ranch Market here and the Mayfair Market in Cucamonga.

The pair, identified as Lynn Allen Parker, 21, and Sheryl Lynn Smith, 20, both of Fontana, were booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of burglary after they were arrested on Altura Street in Upland Thursday by Detective Ron Sommerhouse and officer Rudy Mora. The officers recovered approximately $200 to $300 in stolen meat and cigarettes.

Police said the suspects were seen by Ray Creb and other clerks at Bill's Ranch Market at 1233 E. Foothill Blvd., walking in and out of the store with meat and cigarettes hidden under their clothing. Creb called police and gave officers a description of the suspect's car.

Officer Steve Foulks spotted the car at San Antonio Avenue and Foothill Boulevard and went in pursuit. Foulks lost the suspects temporarily. The car was discovered abandoned on Altura Street a short time later. Sommerhouse and Mora saw the suspects running from the car and caught them a short distance away.

The officers said the stolen meat and cigarettes were found in the car. Police later learned that the suspects had possibly taken other meats and cigarettes from the Mayfair Market in Cucamonga.

Indian Hill Blvd. now No. 1 accident route in Claremont

CLAREMONT — Although police officers are writing more citations, Indian Hill Boulevard has taken the lead from the more heavily traveled Foothill Boulevard in traffic accidents during the last three months, Police Chief Charlie Lines reported.

According to police department figures, 13 persons were injured in 28 accidents during January, February and March on Indian Hill Boulevard. Fourteen occurred between Arrow Highway and American Avenue, and nine between San Jose and American avenues.

A 24-hour count in 1973 revealed that about 23,505 cars a day traveled Indian Hill Boulevard in the vicinity of the San Bernardino Freeway.

During the same period, traffic volume on Foothill Boulevard at Indian Hill Boulevard averages 26,000 vehicles a day.

Police responded to 13 accidents on Foothill Boulevard during January, February and March. Accidents on that divided street are down during the past nine months — 41 compared with 43 for a similar period in 1972-73.

Accidents throughout the community are up in the past nine months. Police have investigated 188 so far, as against 165 in 1972-73.

In 68 accidents the past quarter, a driver had been drinking in five, and speed was cited in 18.

Officers handed out 436 speeding tickets and 1,374 parking tickets during the past quarter. Ninety per cent of the parking tickets were for overnight infractions.

Many persons visit Claremont and are not aware that parking on the street is banned from 1 to 5 a.m., Lines said.

Patrolmen issued 509 tickets to drivers on Indian Hill Boulevard, as against 274 for Foothill Boulevard.

Drunk driving arrests have risen, with 79 arrests in the first nine months of 1973-74, and 76 persons jailed in 1972-73.

Twenty-four drivers were arrested for drunk driving in January, February and March.

Rescue team gets rebuilt truck as memorial to hiker killed in tumble

ONTARIO — A rebuilt 1966 winch-equipped, four-wheel-drive truck to be used by the West End Sheriff's Search and Rescue team in mountain rescue operations was dedicated Thursday to James MacKay, 19, of Upland, who died May 2, 1973, in a hiking accident.

San Bernardino County Sheriff Frank Bland on hand for the special dedication ceremony thanked Mr. and Mrs. George MacKay, 261 W. Eighth St., Upland, parents of the young hiker who fell to his death down an ice chute on the slopes of rugged Mt. Baldy.

Bland said the MacKay family, after learning of their son's death and of the extensive eight-day search operation, asked that their son's family and friends donate memorial funds to the West End Search and Rescue Team.

As a result of the MacKays' request, nearly $1,000 was donated to the rescue team. The money was used to purchase and rebuild the rescue vehicle. Bland said that a permanent plaque would be attached to the truck in memory of James MacKay.

A number of other county offices, deputies, the Alta-Loma-Cucamonga Women's Club, Landmark Auto Body Shop, Ontario Neon Sign Co., Martinez Union 76 Station, and others joined in providing funds for the new vehicle that is capable of traveling over snow, ice, mud, water and other difficult terrain, with a six-man rescue team.

Bland said the vehicle, "comparable to any search and rescue vehicle used anywhere in the United States," is also radio-equipped.

The sheriff added his special thanks to San Bernardino County Supervisor Daniel Mikesell, a former deputy, for securing many of the major modifications made to the truck.

Capt. Edward Noon, commander of the West End substation, especially thanked the MacKay family for support and aid to the rescue team.

With the West End Sheriff's Department lined up in front of the substation watching the ceremonies Mrs. MacKay, barely audible in a strong breeze, said she hoped the new vehicle would save many lives in the future.

S.B. County has class on easing family conflicts

ONTARIO — Having problems with your children?

A course in parenthood will begin Monday at 1 p.m. at the West End Health Center, 1020 W. Sixth St. It will show parents some of the problems of being too strict or too easy. Parents will also be given suggestions on ways to live with fewer fights, fewer tantrums and fewer lies, said officials.

The main objective, however, is to teach parents skills and methods to develop warmer feelings and closer relationships and to allow parents and children to become friends.

Sessions are held once a week for eight weeks, with each lasting about three hours. Certificates are given those who complete the program.

The program is being sponsored by the San Bernardino County Department of Public Health through its social services department.

Two new trustees join Webb board

CLAREMONT — Two new trustees were voted into membership on the board of Webb School at a recent meeting, reported headmaster Stephen R. Longley.

They are Hugh Evans Jr., president of Western Federal Savings and Loan, Los Angeles, a Webb graduate, and Arthur E. Bailey Jr., a Realtor, Portland, Ore., also an alumnus.

Evans was graduated from Stanford University and the UCLA Law School, where he was associated editor of the Law Review.

Both are active in community affairs and have been members of the school's alumni association since its inception.

WALNUT — A reception for Richard Laughter, who was recently re-elected to the City Council, will be held tonight at 8 at the home of Dr. Herb Meisel, 785 N. Pierre Road.

Ron Haprov, one of Laughter's campaign workers, said the reception will feature the dance band Evelyn and the Sounds of Three. There will also be a no host bar and a $1 donation charge. All Walnut residents are invited.

Purpose of the affair mainly is to celebrate Laughter's re-election, Haprov said. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Sandy Klump at 595-1673.

35th District Demo to have party, talk

COVINA — George Kasem, Democratic candidate in the 35th Congressional District race, will host a salad and pizza party Sunday at 2 p.m. in the recreation room of the Hallmark Apartments, 1160 Conwell Ave.

Kasem plans to give an informal talk and discuss campaign issues with guests of the fund-raising event.

Smoking and camping restricted in forest

PASADENA — Smoking and camping restrictions have been imposed in the Angeles National Forest to ease the threat of forest fires.

Visitors are prohibited from smoking while on foot, riding a domesticated animal or vehicle while off the road, in grass or areas posted against smoking.

Campfire permits are required at campgrounds not accessible by roads and at all back country and trail camps. Campfire permits will be issued only at forest offices or by forest officers.

"Rains this past season have caused above normal growth in a variety of grasses and weeds which have already begun to dry," said William T. Dreser, forest supervisor. "This leaves a fast-burning fuel as a serious potential fire hazard."

Visitors are also urged to provide careful supervision of children and the use of matches, use only "fire safe" areas for target shooting, and have all vehicles and equipment equipped with mufflers and approved spark arrestors when operating in brush areas.

Lack of rain hurts S.B. county pastures

SAN BERNARDINO — More rain is needed to sustain growth of dryland grains and pastures in San Bernardino County.

Other crops, however, are receiving ample water through irrigation systems which are on full schedules, reports the county agriculture department.

Many of the crops received a boost last month with nearly one inch of rain throughout the valley areas.

In local crops, workers are continuing to pick lemons. Fruit quality is fair to good and domestic shipments remain constant. An increase is being reported in exports.

There are 2,482 bearing acres of lemon trees in the West End of San Bernardino County. The yield is estimated at 285 field boxes per acre.

The grape bloom is now apparent with the "bunch count" indicating another good crop. Many of the county's grape vineyards are located in Cucamonga, Ontario, Etiwanda and Guasti.

2 plead innocent in case of body found in canyon

POMONA — Two men, returned here to face charges of murder, pleaded innocent when arraigned in Pomona Superior Court Thursday.

They are Johnny R. Thomas, 28, and Roger L. Cox, 29, both charged with murder in the stabbing death March 19 of J. W. Clements, 49, of Corona.

Clements' body was found by a hiker in the Live Oak Canyon area near Claremont. Sheriff's deputies said he had been stabbed to death and his body dumped there from a car.

Thomas and Cox were arraigned before Judge Francis J. Garvey who scheduled their pretrial hearing for May 22 and ordered that they remain in jail in lieu of $50,000 bail.

The two suspects were returned recently after their arrest in Kansas where they were held for Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies. They waived extradition.

Clements worked in Pomona and sometimes stayed in a camper he left parked here.

Eligible children not getting them

Little stomach for free lunches

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Only slightly more than half of the estimated 1 million California children eligible for free or reduced price school meals are receiving them, the state Department of Education said today.

In a report to the Legislature, the department said that parent reluctance to accept aid and student embarrassment were two reasons why all those eligible were not enjoying the meals.

Other reasons, the report said, include the inability or unwillingness of some districts to participate in the program, the lack of equipment to prepare food in some schools and difficulty in securing prepared lunch deliveries in remote areas.

During the 1972-73 school year 649,354 needy children received the meals, the report said, out of an estimated 1 million eligible.

The report said that under the Duffy-Moscone Family Nutrition Education and Services Act of 1970 the state spent $225,960 on the program last year. Federal funds accounted for much more with an average of about 48 cents per meal being paid.

In an effort to extend the lunch program, the department said it was meeting with school administrators and others in an attempt "to convince them of the importance of providing nourishing school meals to pupils."

It also said it was "exploring with private industry the possibility of designing a mobile kitchen that can be used by schools in remote areas."

In addition, the department said it was working with county welfare departments to inform needy families about the availability of the meals.

Lots of junk in the drawer

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Few modern American homes can operate successfully without a handy repository for all the things you think you'll never need again—and you always need desperately about once a year—tools and tacks, flashlights and fuses, string, Scotch tape, sandpaper.

This Pandora's box of hardware is known in many homes as "the junk drawer," though it may be a cabinet in the closet, a bin in the cellar, a shelf in the garage. Often it is a commodious drawer in the kitchen, one not used on a day-to-day basis but vital to the operation of the home.

When a fuse blows, a sink backs up, a faucet drips or a bulb burns out, the resident Mr. Fix-It turns at once to the junk drawer for whatever is needed—and it's usually there. The drawer, like a fire extinguisher, isn't used often, but when it is, the occasion is usually an emergency.

An efficient householder, one of those guys who makes things in his workshop and knows how to repair things, has his tools racked up in garage or cellar; nuts, bolts, screws and nails in neatly labeled jars; paint, putty, thinner and oils in prim rows of cans under the workbench. In the home of the average slob, they're all in the junk drawer.

A junk drawer is a pack-of-all-trades, where the Stillson wrench nestles amid the Christmas ribbons, the box of washers lies cheek by jowl with the birthday cake candles, the putty knife peeps out from a coil of clothesline. Here are screwdrivers and staples, flashlight batteries and wood cement, a Boy Scout knife, a package of bathroom tile, a box of curtain rod hooks and a twisted tube of Unguentine.

The junk drawer achieves its character—halfway between a swap meet and an Oriental bazaar—from several aspects of the American family. Anything Mother does not know where to keep goes into the junk drawer. Well, where, for pity sakes, do YOU stow the used sandpaper, the plastic turkeys used as place cards at the Thanksgiving table, the extra mantles for the camping lantern, the spare screen-door hooks? The junk drawer saves her from making a decision—or 100 decisions.

For Dad, the junk drawer is the first place he turns to for all the tools and supplies he needs to keep the home operative. He knows if there is a pair of pliers in the house it will be in there because there's nowhere else it COULD be.

Ditto electrician's tape, wire cutters, mosquito ointment, masking tape, file, thumb tacks, paint brushes, cork screws and double sockets.

The only drawback to the junk drawer is the kids. To active and inquisitive small fry, the drawer is a treasure trove of excitement and experiment, with the consequence that when Dad needs it—well, where did you have it LAST? The hammer is up in the tree house, the bicycle tire pump is in the cellar, the picture wire has been used on a science project now gathering dust in the garage, the awl is rusting on the front lawn.

A junk drawer is valuable in the modern home—it contains everything Dad needs. It may even contain what he needs most—a good strong padlock.

Political spying charged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Robert F. Cox, assistant county marshall and a candidate for sheriff, Thursday charged that the Los Angeles County Sheriff's office and the district attorney's office may have been spying on Supervisor Baxter Ward when Ward ran for office in 1972.

Cox said he attended a meeting with suspended County Marshall Timothy Sperl at which Sperl asked an aide to tell Ward of the alleged surveillance program.

Sperl, who confirmed that he had talked to Ward about the possible surveillance, said the decision to spy on Ward was originated by a "Save Supervisor Dorn" committee, according to Cox.

Ward successfully ran against Supervisor Warren K. Dorn.

Sheriff Peter Pitchess, District Attorney Joseph Busch and several other high-ranking elected county officials denied Cox's allegations. Pitchess said the charges were "utterly ridiculous."

Cox said the major objective of the surveillance program was to discover the source of information Ward used when he campaigned against Dorn.

May be unconstitutional

L.A. bans nudity in newsracks

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Despite warnings from the city attorney that it may be unconstitutional, the City Council Thursday approved an ordinance outlawing placement in newsracks of papers with front-page nudity visible to passers-by.

By a 12-1 vote, the measure was passed and sent to Mayor Tom Bradley for signature or veto.

City Attorney Burt Pines warned that the ordinance may run afoul of state laws preempting the obscenity field, and may conflict with constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press. The law could face "serious challenges" since the U.S. Supreme Court has repeatedly held that nudity by itself is not obscene, he said.

This could prevent enforcement of any of the law's provisions, Pines warned. The law also makes it unlawful to offer material of "prurient interest" for sale from newsracks unless there is a responsible adult present to stop minors from buying it.

"A DECISION, LORD" — Fr. Leo Marciel ponders the fate of his church and parish after a fire destroyed St. Paul's of Hudson Falls, N.Y., several weeks ago. The gutter church is under the control of the Albany Catholic Diocese which will ultimately decide if it is to be rebuilt. At this point all those who want the 75-year-old church rebuilt can do is wait and puzzle over the decision-making.

Harmer's evaluation

Reinecke can't win with charge hanging indictment is not settled before the election.

In an interview with the Sacramento Union, Harmer said he has warned his close friend, Reinecke, that if the indictment is not settled before the election, "it just makes it impossible for the party" and Reinecke to win in November.

Harmer, a GOP candidate for lieutenant governor and a longtime supporter of Reinecke, said he has discussed the matter several times with the lieutenant governor.

"I said to him if he can't reconcile his legal difficulties by the time the primary comes around I do not see how the party can be asked to have him as its nominee," Harmer said. "I could not in good conscience recommend a vote for Ed Reinecke at that time."

Reinecke, indicted by a Watergate grand jury on charges of lying to a U.S. Senate committee, originally sought a trial date in early May but his attorneys last week asked for and were granted a delay. No new trial date has been set but could be after the June 4 primary. The Republican gubernatorial candidate has pleaded innocent to the charges.

"The facts of life are if he were the nominee (at the time of his trial)," whether acquitted or not acquitted, it would be impossible to be elected" because of the new media exposure the trial would receive, Harmer said. But he said if Reinecke can vindicate himself before the primary, "wild horses could not keep him from being nominated, and I'd be delighted."

Harmer said he has never suggested that Reinecke drop out of the race for governor.

The senator from Glendale said he is "absolutely certain" Reinecke is innocent of the charges, adding "I would stake my political life on the fact that Ed Reinecke is going to be acquitted."

McGovern tells of tax return

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., disclosed today that he and his wife Eleanor had an adjusted gross income of $86,107.91 and paid income and self-employment taxes of $26,342.81 in 1973.

McGovern voluntarily made public information from his returns, prepared by Robert M. Ellis of the Internal Revenue Service.

McGovern's Senate salary of $42,500 was supplemented by $29,210.40 earned in lectures. Mrs. McGovern earned $11,766.66 speaking and writing. The rest of the income included interest from savings and a blind trust and $49 in dividends.

A fisherman weighs baby

The doctor was a dedicated fisherman. Even rigged up his own scales to weigh every fish he caught. He liked to talk about them later. Anyhow, this summer in question, he got no more than 40 feet out on the lake when a half-hysterical woman, obviously about to become a mother, called to him from shore for help. He delivered the offspring in its parents resort cabin not too many minutes later. And he checked its heft, too, as is customary. On the only scale handy, those he used for his fish. That baby weighted 44 pounds 6 ounces.

Pollsters report that nine out of 10 married women contend their husbands changed after marriage. And three of the nine claimed said husbands changed for the worse. It's likely these statistics are accurate. Remember, three out of nine marriages end in divorce.

Drinking

Q. "How do you explain the fact that my boyfriend can drink bourbon on the rocks for hours at a party without showing the slightest sign of intoxication, then suddenly tip over, dead drunk?"

A. Maybe it's his pyloric valve, young lady. The record shows numerous nervous citizens possess such stomach valves that tend to stay clamped shut because of tension. Eventually, however, a little relaxation opens them wide. The alcohol gushes into the blood stream. And it's Good Night, Nurse.

"How long does it take to make pork and bears from scratch, if you do it right?"

A. About 1,240 minutes. What with soaking overnight, hour and a half of simmering and nine hours or more of baking.

Q. "What was the most popular handgun during the Civil War days?"

A. The model 1860 Colt revolver.

Q. "Can real ambidexterity be learned?"
A. Doctors don't think so.

Touch Cheeks

Am asked how it came to pass that Frenchmen kiss each other near their ears, first one side and then the other, in that continental greeting. Origin of that public intimacy remains a mystery. Should mention, though, they don't actually kiss each other, just touch cheeks.

Vaudeville's three-a-day meant the big time

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twenty years before my father was born, American vaudeville played fitfully in barrooms and entertainment emporia known as "museums."

When George Godfrey died this month in Florida at 88, variety shows were again museum pieces.

But for an intervening half-century, from 1880 to 1930, a phenomenal series of three-day bills introduced the most remarkable stars our entertainment world has seen.

My father knew them intimately, handed many of them their first jobs, gave them the breaks that fostered their careers.

Because he was general booking manager of the Orpheum Circuit of theaters stretching from Chicago to California —and because he was the man who chose the acts for the legendary Palace Theater in New York —the nation's singers, dancers, acrobats, clowns, midgets, hypnotists, tragedians, ventriloquists and animal trainers competed for his patronage.

Showmen dubbed the Palace a "white elephant" when it first opened in March, 1913, to thin audiences. But the phrase died out when Sarah Bernhardt drew gargantuan crowds two months later, launching the theater on a 20-year surge of prosperity. Dad remembered Bernhardt as a stormy prima donna who demanded payments in gold ingots after each performance, and slept in a coffin every night during her out-of-town tours.

An office boy sauntered into my father's suite one day in those early years to deliver a copy of the Orpheum Circuit house organ. As the office boy tossed it on the desk, he pleaded: "For God's sake, don't throw it in the waste basket until I leave the room!" He was Walter Winchell.

Dad caught the Four Marx Brothers one night at a rundown little theater in the Bronx. He booked them at once into the Palace, where they won the fame that never left them. Years later, he asked Groucho how much he and Harpo and Chico and Zeppo would want per week for an Orpheum tour.

"Twelve thousand dollars," replied Groucho.

"How much for just you and Harpo and Chico?"

“Fifteen thousand dollars.”

Fanny Brice, Sophie Tucker, Ed Wynn, Jimmy Durante, Jack Benny, and Al Jolson were all obscure performers when my father first booked them.

I met just a handful of these stars, chiefly when Dad prevailed upon one or another of them to entertain at my birthday parties. On my 12th birthday, Houdini refused to stage an escape trick. But he made amends by laying 20 needles on his tongue, inserting a thread in his mouth, chewing a few times, and then pulling the needles out neatly threaded.

After the talkies took over in the early '30's, Dad became a Hollywood casting director. But he regarded the movies as a shabby medium ... a bagful of tricks .. compared to the artistry and glamour and natural excitement of Big Time Vaudeville during the era when he commanded the scene

Derby Day sees biggest field ever

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The wildest scramble of straining horseflesh and screaming jockeys in 100 years looms certain at the start of today's $326,500 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

Twenty-three horses will be stretched across the track and it will take a shoehorn to get them in place. It's the biggest field ever assembled for the first of the Triple Crown classics. And it's the biggest field ever to start in an American race around two turns.

The battle for position, once starter Tom Wagoner flashes the go signal, will be bitter, with no quarter given.

"I hope those other 22 jockeys are tied on good," warned little Don MacBeth, who has the toughest assignment of all, getting Buck's Bid into contention from the extreme outside post position. His horse will be farther out from the rail than any Derby starter ever has been. MacBeth doesn't like it; trainer Tony Bardaro doesn't like it; and owner John Connelley wouldn't believe it when first told.

"If Judger (in No. 22) comes out just a little we go over the fence," Bardaro said. "If Buck's Bid was a speed horse we'd be in real trouble. All we can hope for is a decent position on the first turn. The trouble is every boy will be trying for the same thing."

"Unless some horse wins big, you can bet there will be a lot of excuses. And I'm afraid most of them will be legitimate," Bardaro added.

Judger and Cannonade, his running mate, are favored in the 1 1/4 mile race. Judger is almost as bad off as Buck's Bid. Cannonade is down on the rail in the second stall.

"I'd rather be out than in," said their trainer, Woody Stephens, who doesn't want either of his stretch-runners trampled in the mad stampede for the inside position in the first charge through the stretch.

The Judger-Cannonade entry is favored at 8 to 5. A second coupling of Rube the Great and Accipiter is second choice at 9 to 2. Trainer Frank Martin claimed he wasn't worried about post positions.

"Happy, no. But I can't complain about post positions. In a field of 23 you like to get a good position but if you got the right horse he'll make his own position," Martin said. He is sure Rube the Great is the right horse.

Accipiter will bust out of No. 2 while Rube the Great will drift toward the rail from No. 12.

Agitate, third choice at 5 to 1, has the inside post.

"He better blast out of there or he'll get smothered with horses," one rival warned.

Others scheduled to start are Flip Sal, J.R.'s Pat, Little Current, Ga Hai, Destroyer, Triple Crown, Sir Tristram and a 10-horse "field" of Lexico, Consigliori, Sharp Gary, Bold Clarion, Crimson Ruler, Pat McGroder, Confederate Yankee, Hudson County, Set n' Go and Gold and Myrrh.

Sir Tristram came from France where the starts are more leisurely. Jockey Bill Hartack, seeking a record sixth Kentucky Derby, has had Sir Tristram practicing starts all week to keep the colt out of trouble at the break. Sir Tristram is the best looking horse in the race and looks and acts like a runner.

There's a chance Destroyer, the Santa Anita Derby winner, will be scratched if the track is muddy. He handled it pretty good in a blowout Friday morning.

"But if it's slippery I'll scratch him," said owner Kenneth Obstein.

The track, drenched by rain on Thursday, was drying rapidly under a bright sun and brisk wind. No more rain was forecast and Churchill Downs was braced for close to 150,000 people.

Angels win; Winkles booed

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

ANAHEIM — Angels' manager Bob Winkles was booed by Anaheim Stadium fans Friday night and his prize young lefthanded pitcher, Frank Tanana, was unhappy but Winkles could smile afterward.

It all came about because Winkles took out Tanana one out shy of a complete game shutout in the ninth inning. The 11,139 fans gave Tanana a big cheer when he stomped to the dugout after turning his back on his manager on the mound. Then the crowd gave Winkles a loud boo when he ventured back into the hidden recesses of the dugout.

But Winkles could laugh about it after the game as the press kidded him about his quick hook.

As it turned out, Winkles used three pitchers in the ninth inning to preserve a 2-0 win over the Baltimore Orioles and successfully open a nine-game homestand.

Just a week ago, the Halos were dropping out of sight with a five game losing streak. But the tide has turned as they have now won four in row to move one game behind first-place Texas in the American League West.

Tanana, Dick Selma and Rudy May shared credit for the Angels' first shutout of the season. But Tanana was clearly the star of the night.

The rookie southpaw from Detroit entered the ninth inning enjoying a sparkling two-hit performance.

Tanana, 3-2, came within a single out of a complete-game blanking of the Birds.

But he opened the ninth inning by committing a pitcher's sin in walking Bobb'e Grich, the first batter.

Tanana got back in command by getting Tommy Davis to fly out and Earl Williams on an easy infield popup after Winkles visited the mound to talk to him.

Don Baylor got Baltimore's third hit of the night on a grounder which Angels' shortstop Dave Chalk was able to field but couldn't make a play.

That brought up the veteran Brooks Robinson with Orioles on first and second with two outs.

When Tanana fell behind 2-0, Winkles came out with the hook to bring in the righthanded Selma. Robinson eventually drew a walk, which was charged to Tanana, to load the bases and put the trying run on second base.

It then became a battle of wits as Baltimore manager Earl Weaver sent up lefthanded Rich Coggins, the former Garey High star, to pinch hit.

Winkles countered by sending for the lefthanded May to come in from the bullpen.

Instead of Coggins, Weaver sent righthanded batter Enos Cabell to face the southpaw. On the second pitch, Cabell grounded sharply to May for the final out.

"Sure, it's a natural feeling to be upset when taken out in that situation but it's a man's decision," an obviously uptight Tanana said in the club house. "That's what the manager is paid to do. In this case, it worked out fine."

Asked about his decision, Winkles said, "He didn't throw very well in the eighth inning and I was concerned when he got behind on Robinson. I wanted to bring Selma in at that time because I didn't want to enable Weaver to use any of his lefthanded pinch-hitters."

Winkles obviously knew Tanana didn't like his decision. "He didn't look me in the eye," Winkles laughed. "I thought he was going to go out to centerfield instead of into the dugout."

Tanana was masterful. Outside of the ninth inning, he was only in trouble in the sixth when Mark Belanger broke up his no-hit bid with a one-out single. Paul Blair followed with the Orioles' second hit of the night to advance a runner to second base for the only time all night until the ninth.

While Tanana was a little wild with five walks, he didn't give the Birds much to hit.

"It was the hardest I've thrown this year," the 20-year-old lefthander said. "I sure wanted that no-hitter. I lost my rhythm in the late innings."

Baltimore lefthander Ross Grimsley was nearly as tough, allowing only four hits.

But two of them were Angel home runs. Bob Oliver led off the fourth with a circuit blow over the leftfield fence and hot-hitting Tom McCraw opened the seventh with a roundtripper into the rightfield seats.

It was the third of the season for both Oliver and McCraw.

ANGEL ANGLES — A crowd estimated between 35,000 and 40,000 is expected on Bat Night this evening. Little League-approved bats will be given to all youngsters 14 and under. Cy Young award winner Jim Palmer (2-1) will pitch for the Orioles against Bill Singer (3-2) in the 7 p.m. contest.

'Pack, Giants post SAL wins

Claremont High hit the .500 mark while Ganesha climbed out of last place in San Antonio League baseball action Friday.

Claremont dumped Chino 6-3 to square their SAL mark at 6-6 and take over fourth place in league with two games remaining.

John Huddleston hurled the win for the Wolfpack, as Tony Janusz and Rick Tullis cracked two-run singles during a six-run Claremont explosion in the first inning.

Scott Richartz, two-run one-bagger in the third got Chino on the board, but the Cowboys (now 5-7 in the SAL) could not catch up against Huddleston.

The Pack, sporting a 14-10 overall slate, will go against Pomona High Tuesday at Pomona. Chino will be traveling to Upland.

Ganesha scored twice in the top of the eighth inning and held on to post a 6-4 extra-inning win over Pomona.

The see-saw battle saw Pomona jump off to a 2-0 lead, Ganesha taking a 3-2 edge with three runs in the third, Pomona tying it up in the bottom of the third, and both clubs scoring in the fourth.

Ganesha is now 3-9 in the SAL, while Pomona falls to a 5-7 ledger.

STOLEN POINTS

John Havlicek (17) of Boston goes up for shot as Oscar Robertson (1) of Milwaukee flies past. Havlicek had stolen the ball and scored on this play. Celtics won.

Cowens, Havlicek star as Celtics whip Bucks

BOSTON (UPI) — Dave Cowens scored 30 points and John Havlicek 28 as the Boston Celtics opened a 19-point first quarter lead Friday night and never stopped running to 95-83 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks for a 2-1 edge in their NBA championship series.

Cowens set the offensive style at 35 seconds with a 20-foot jumper. The Celtics employed a fullcourt press in the opening quarter, Cowens continued to hit from outside and forced Bucks' center Kareem Abdul Jabbar to move away from the backboards.

It was 32-13 at the quarter as Cowens scored nine points and Havlicek had eight in the period.

Once the Celtics had taken a 19-9 lead on a pair of Don Chaney free throws at 6:50 of the first quarter, they never dropped below a 10-point bulge the rest of the night.

Both teams played raggedly in the second period and Milwaukee closed to 11 points at 40-29 but five points by Havlicek at the end of the period brought Boston to a 51-37 halftime lead.

Referee Richie Powers assessed consecutive technical fouls at the end of the half to Bucks Coach Larry Costello and his assistant, Hubie Brown. Brown was ejected from the game for protesting too vigorously on a charging foul against Mickey Davis.

Havlicek and Cowens owned the third period. Cowens, who sat out most of the second period, scored 14 points mostly from the outside, and Havlicek popped in 10 more.

The Bucks, behind 77-59 after three quarters, ran off eight points on three Bob Dandridge baskets and one by Davis to close to 79-66 but Boston countered with six of the next eight points to regain a 13-point edge.

Jabbar finished with 26 points and Dandridge had 16. Oscar Robertson, shut off by the defense of Chaney for the first 18 minutes of the game, finished with 10 points.

Maravich to New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Pete Maravich of the Atlanta Hawks, whose first professional contract was the largest in history to that time, approved his trade to the NBA's expansion New Orleans franchise Friday and then signed a multi-year contract.

Pete Rosenfeld, president of the New Orleans franchise, refused to say what he paid Atlanta for Maravich in cash.

But, in addition to the money, Rosenfeld did say Atlanta also would get New Orleans' first-round draft choice in 1974 and its first and second round picks in 1975. The teams also will trade draft choices in 1976 and 1977.

Montanez' HR beats Dodgers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Willie Montanez blasted his first home run of the year Friday night, then came up with a game-saving defensive play to help the Philadelphia Phillies defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1.

The Phillies took a 1-0 lead in the second when Mike Anderson singled, took third on a single by Montanez and scored on a wild pitch by loser Doug Rau (2-1).

Montanez connected for his homer with one out in the fourth to make it 2-0 but starter Ron Schueler (1-3) was forced to leave in the eighth when he tore a fingernail on his pitching hand.

A double by Bill Russell started the LA rally in the eighth and when pinch-hitter Ken McMullen singled, Schueler was replaced by Mac Scarce. Manny Mota's sacrifice fly brought in Russell and when rightfielder Mike Anderson threw wild to the plate, pinchrunner Lee Lacy took second.

Montanez then speared Willie Crawford's bid for a base hit, though, and flipped to Scarce in time for the inning ending out at first.

Portland players happy Walton is joining team

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The Portland Trail Blazers, last place finishers in the NBA's Pacific Division in all four of their seasons, look forward now to making next year's playoffs following agreement to a five-year contract by Bill Walton.

Walton, the 6-11, red-headed UCLA superstar and three-time college player-of-the-year who also was sought avidly by the rival ABA, said Thursday he would sign with the NBA Blazers.

No terms were announced but estimates put the figure at $2.5 to $3 million.

Walter Kennedy, the NBA commissioner, said in New York he thought Walton would "turn that franchise around and maybe even bring them a championship."

Portland players and Coach Jack McCloskey were extremely pleased with the announcement.

"I feel awfully, awfully good," McCloskey said. "With the addition of Walton to the players that we have, it makes the Blazers a contender."

Harry Glickman, vice president of the Blazers, said, "It now puts us in the position where we can realistically start thinking about becoming a play-off team."

were also held by Frazier with three in the SAL and four during a full season. And Votaw made sure that they both belonged solely to him as he blasted another roundtripper in the fifth inning.

This record setter had been immediately preceded by a home run off DuVall's bat, giving each three RBIs for the afternoon. Rich Phillips drove in the final two runs with a single in the sixth as every starter for Upland (except pitcher Joey Zamudio) collected at least one hit.

Votaw has been the big key recently for the Scots. After getting off to a fairly slow start, he still entered Friday's game with a nice .377 batting average. The big difference, at least according to Christian's thinking, has been that Votaw is working in a batting cage place and is able to take about a half hour extra hitting practice each day.

Upland, after playing two games next week, will try to match the accomplishments of the 1961 team which went on to win the CIF crown. And that is one title Christian wouldn't mind having this year's team share.

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

MONTCLAIR — His teammates call him "Keen," because of his pitching accuracy. The opposition finds him hard to hit and Damien coach Matt Kolodge describes Larry Pekarcik (10-2) as "dominating."

The big righthander directed his mastery at Montclair Friday afternoon and blanked the Cavaliers 5-0 on just three hits in a crucial San Antonio League baseball game.

Although the win was one of many superlative performances for the 6-1 senior this season, the victory was extremely important to the team. The Spartans (17-6 overall) tied the slumping Cavs, losers of three of their past four games, for the runnerup spot in the league.

"I can relax now," said Kolodge after Pekarcik struck out the side in the seventh inning to end the game. "This is a great win for us. I don't know what the CIF will decide, but if we win the next two games this win should put us in the playoffs."

Should Damien win its final two games with Ganesha and Garey next week and Montclair win its final contests with Garey and Chino, the Spartans would probably get the CIF 3-A playoff nod — having beaten the Cavs twice.

Upland clinched the SAL championship and a playoff berth in a 10-3 rout of Garey.

Pekarcik notched his fourth league shutout while striking out eight and walking one Cav in lowering his earned run average to 0.77.

"Larry did a good job," continued an elated Kolodge. "He just dominated them with a good live fast ball, kept them off stride with his slider, and once in a while he threw an 'old lady' curve."

The Spartans took advantage of two key Montclair patterns.

They jumped on numerous waist-high fastballs off sore-armed Mike Medeiros (5-4, 3-2). The junior southpaw went 5 and 1-3rd innings, allowing four runs — two earned — struck out seven and walked one before being replaced by Frank Hudson in the sixth.

Meanwhile, Pekarcik eased his way through a lifeless Montclair lineup.

The Spartans took a 1-0 first inning lead on Bill Karr's single to center and Robert Alexander's double to center.

Andy Silvera's double and Karr's single produced a second inning run and extended the lead to 2-0.

Damien's third frame run was the result of Silvera's bunt single, a walk, fielder's choice and Dean Sickle's hit-and-run single to right.

Silvera, who wound up three-for-three and scored three times, accounted for the sixth inning tally when the first sacker tripled to left and scored on a throwing error on the same play.

The final run was off Hudson in the seventh on Sickle's walk and John Pignotti's double.

Montclair's only threats were in the first and fifth innings.

Mike Pittman blasted a two-out triple to right and Gary Baker walked. But Pekarcik got Medeiros to foul out.

The Damien ace retired nine in a row before Pat Proulx led off the sixth with a walk. Following a fly out, Pittman, who finished with a two-for-three performance, singled advancing Proulx to second. But Pekarcik struck out Baker and Medeiros.

Upland clinches title, Damien stops Cavs

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — Herb Christian has been the head baseball coach at Upland High School for 10 years and his Highlander teams have shared San Antonio League crowns on three occasions during his tenure.

But the 1974 version of the Upland team won't be sharing anything with anyone as it ran its current SAL mark to an impressive 11-1 with an easy 10-3 win Friday against Garey.

The victory, coupled with Montclair's 5-0 loss to Damien, gives Upland a three game lead with only two to play. So the Highlanders' magic number is now zero.

"After all these years here, it's good to win a title outright," commented Christian after being informed of the Damien-Montclair outcome.

"I thought that we would have a good team this year," he continued "but, never would have guessed that we, or anyone else, could have wrapped things up this early."

In comparing this year's team with the co-champions of 1968, 1969 and 1971, Christian offered the following observations:

"Our other teams had much more speed than this year's crew. Especially the 1971 group that was led by Eric Frazier (now Upland's assistant coach) and standout at La Verne College. But this year's team has more power — in fact, it has more power than I thought it would."

The power Christian talked about was on full display Friday as spectators at Garey's field witnessed Upland's muscle in the first inning.

With only one out, the Highlanders were already enjoying a 1-0 lead when first baseman Stu DuVall stepped to the plate with Steve Smith and Russ Feaster in scoring position.

DuVall quickly cleared the bases, somewhat, for Viking starter John Andrejewski, as he lashed his third triple of the SAL season to deep left. This tied DuVall with Frazier's Upland for the most triples in league play with three.

The next batter was rightfielder Tony Votaw and he blasted one to deep right center that rolled far enough to allow the southpaw slugger to leg out his third homer of the SAL campaign and fifth of the season.

Van members in world of their own

It's handle that counts

"Passport to Passion."
"Wet & Wild."
"Vanish."

These are "handles." Names aren't important. Your handle is.

"Everybody knows who I am. They might not know me, but they know my van."

MY VAN.

The two most important words to any van club member. By far the most important words to 20-year-old Jim Stromquist, president of Foothill Vans.

He and John Dovey formed Foothill Vans last December, because they weren't happy with the club they were in. The easiest solution was to start a club they would enjoy. They wanted a group interested in attending meetings, planning activities and generally participating in the organization.

Foothill Vans is part of the van movement. Interest in vans has increased tremendously in the past three years. Designed more for practical work purposes than passenger vehicles, they've never-the-less become popular because of the varied uses they have. In essence, vans are fully enclosed trucks, that can also be used for camping or carrying large groups of people relatively comfortably.

Any club, especially a van club, needs to have a real—not superficial—communal feeling. When you get 20-50 guys and girls together and go on frequent trips, or "runs" as they call them, there's no room for feelings. Too much time is spent together to hold grudges or create enemies.

Having a good time is of primary importance. But theirs is not simple hedonism. They never lose sight of reality. All the van club members either go to school or work full-time.

Stromquist wants to make a career of firefighting. He's presently attending Chaffey College as a fire science major. Stromquist owns "Wet & Wild," a deep sky-blue van. The interior isn't completed yet. He plans on doing a lot to it, when he gets the money. The exterior is in immaculate shape, though, a prime requirement for any van club member.

John Dovey, 20, is vice president of the club. He owns "Vanish," a shimmering, pearlescent, bright green van with a smoked plastic is scoop on top, and an interior that cost him about $1,200. Dovey is a full-time marketing major at Mt. San Antonio College and has a part-time job as a checker in a local supermarket.

Dovey's girl friend, Joyce Gunski, 19, attends two local junior colleges on a full-time basis. She's majoring in police science and is seeking a career in narcotics enforcement.

Bill Schultz, 23, has two jobs and owns "Passport to Passion," one of the most elegant vans around. He spent $1,500 to create the interior. Step into the "Passion Wagon" as it is known, and you divorce yourself from the 1970s. Suddenly you're transported back in time to the gaudy, richly decorated bordellos of the 1890s. Plush red velvet, comfortable throw pillows, beaded curtain, and a mirror above the bed in back, suggest a surrealistic pleasure palace not normally found with four wheels and an engine.

Schultz's girl friend, Dodie Buermann, 18, helped him decorate the interior. She and her mother made the pillows and the bedspread. She loves vans, but then that's not unusual, they all do.

"Passport to Passion" won its first car show award recently at the Montclair Plaza car show. First place overall went to Schultz' creation and second place went to fellow member Dovey, for "Vanish."

Some van owners spend as much as $7,000-8,000 on customizing their vehicles. As Schultz indicated, you are only limited by your imagination and the amount of money you have.

There are no readily diffable answers for why these people spend so much time and money on their vans. Stromquist admitted though, "It's part of us. It's an ego trip."

The van becomes the person or at least just as important. Stromquist feels that, "You care about your van, just like you care about your personal appearance."

Next to fixing up their vans, the club members pattern their free time around the runs they make. Usually once or twice a month they go to the beach, desert, mountains or wherever the urge takes them. Sometimes

Books aid those who go abroad

By MARIE MATTSON

There's only one book, it's said, that can tell you where to go on a vacation — that's your check book. However, here are some free and low-cost publications — along with addresses to write for copies — that may help you plan more enjoyable travel.

As it was in the beginning it is now and most likely ever shall be!

The wheels of Justice grind in mysterious ways their wonders to perform. And one of those wonders is that if those who are convicted of crimes can afford to take their cases high enough, some court is bound to find a technicality which will set them free.

"But things weren't like that in the Good Old Days!" I hear you exclaim. "Those were times when truth, righteousness and particularly justice reigned supreme."

So apparently I must cite you a legal precedent to confirm my contention. Well, so be it.

The date was April 20, 1893. Five Pomona lads, well supplied with firewater, had decided to journey to Chino for the specific purpose of disturbing a Salvation Army meeting in that little community. And once having made that decision, they lost little time in putting it into effect.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Justice seldom changes

Quite successfully, too, according to the report of the Chino constable who arrested the unruly Pomona Five and charged them with drinking whisky in a church, and using foul and profane language in a very offensive manner. What's more, that constable hauled the lads off to a Justice Court in San Bernardino. There they pleaded guilty and were sentenced by the judge to six months in the San Bernardino jail.

But unfortunately, as long ago as 1893, bringing young Daniels to judgment was one thing but making it stick was another. The next day the young culprits' parents went into action. First they applied for the lads' release on a writ of habeas corpus and then they appealed the case in the Superior Court. — It is upon that Superior Court's ruling that I base my case. One week and two days after being arrested, the boys were released by the higher court on the grounds that a warrant issued against "John Doe, Richard Roe and others unknown" was not valid against them.

clubs, or as a larger group, with the Southern California Van Council.

The van council is made up of some 42 van clubs and a total of close to 1,000 persons. Next weekend many of the council members are traveling to Jellystone Park. Some are claiming that as many as 800 vans might show up there.

When they go on runs, they travel caravan style, lights on and in one long, straight line

Group identification. But most of all, whatever sense of individuality can be obtained through an ornate title spelled out on the vehicle's side with the greatest of care and patience.

a sincere interest in vans. Foothill Vans is not an unusual club. The membership represents a cross-section of the 18-25 age group. They are students, workers, but most of all van people.

As Tweedy explained, "Van people are different strokes."

Single-minded in purpose, this modern day caravan of travelers, organized to peak efficiency, rambles on towards their final destination. This sparkling, glittering assemblage of 4,000-8,000 vans, customized vans no less, exudes the substance of most car clubs. Together, strength through numbers.

Last year, under the auspices of the van council, close to 800 vans participated in a "Toys for Tots" drive. They staged a "van fair" with competitive events, prizes and plenty of toys. Admission to the event was one $3 toy. According to Warren Tweedy, chairman of the van council, over $5,000 in toys was collected and given to charities.

Fascinating book explains our 'least rewarded' poet

By SAMUEL I. BELLMAN
E. E. CUMMINGS: THE MAGIC MAKER. By Charles Norman. Little, Brown. Paperback: $3.45.

(Samuel I. Bellman is professor of English at Cal Poly, Pomona.)

This fascinating book about one of our best, but least rewarded poets — a daring innovator who moved American poetry generations into the future (from which it has now sharply receded) — leaves out a great deal of the personal and gives us much more of the trivial and tangential than we need. But it moves, and it illuminates E. E. Cummings, the poet of crazy syntax and looney typography and fiercely tender sexual expression, in a satisfying manner.

Norman's book, which appeared in the 1950s (Cummings was born in 1894 and died in 1962), is based on a long friendship with the author and a very extensive reading of archival materials: Letters, book reviews, interviews — all the data that pedantic scholars like to retrieve for a definitive biography that few people will care enough to read.

But Cummings, the perverse individualist (who insisted on the lower-case i, to designate the SELF, who painted as much as he wrote (and who must not have been all that good as a painter, because where did his painting get him?), shines through somehow. He shines through as an artist, an expressionistic artist in love with New York (his Eternal City) and out of step with his time.

With a welter of researched material detailing what others said and wrote about Cummings, Norman nevertheless leaves out such thought-provoking questions as: How could a person so reverently appreciative of his eminently capable father, fail to develop the family stability and domestic fidelity that helped make his father so great? And how could a poet who wrote far more feelingly about love than most routine saints, know so little about love's capacity for lasting and expanding, in relation to a chosen love object? Long out of touch with his daughter, the often-married Cummings does not seem to be the kind of person who could create all of the great love poetry he is credited with. For example, "Thy fingers make early flowers of all things" and "anyone lived in a pretty how town."

Norman does give us some of the more "newsy" aspects of Cummings' public life: his internment by the French when he was a Red Cross ambulance driver in World War I, and was suddenly (and incorrectly) identified as a treasonable subversive; his prose account of his weird imprisonment by the French, in the quasi-novel, "The Enormous Room;" his imperfect attempt to become a playwright, with the swollen experimental play, "Him," presented at the Provincetown Playhouse in 1928; his frequent sojournings in Paris; his trip to Russia in the early 1930's; etc.

There is much quoting of Cummings' poetry in the book, with illuminating commentary and a well deserved tribute to the poet's unique accomplishments. It is not that Cummings remains elusive, despite all that Norman and others say about him, it is worth pointing out that

Cummings is far too complex a rebel against the tedious, outmoded order of things to be brought between the covers of a 365-page book, no matter how well researched... unless much of the conventional scholarly apparatus is drastically boiled down or eliminated.

Old business school harvests ambivalence

By MURRAY PROJECTOR
THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO THE HARVARD BUSINESS SCHOOL, by Peter Cohen. Doubleday, $10.

(Murray Projector is a consulting actuary in Claremont.)

"If I'm going to be a businessman, by God, I want to be a Harvard Businessman." A Harvard businessman means a graduate of the Harvard Business School, not of Harvard College which is a wholly dissimilar institution with a similar name.

The Harvard Business School is the United States' oldest graduate school of business administration, founded in 1908. The American business community well knows its 35,000 alumni, and has learned to respect, fear and distrust the man from Harvard Business.

This ambivalent attitude towards the HBS graduate is also characteristic of Peter Cohen, and of his book. Cohen, himself, is a recent Harvard M.B.A., and is entitled to his ambivalence.

The two-year M.B.A. program of the Harvard Business School is outstanding, which explains the respect its graduates engender. The rigorous course is geared for carefully selected students, all of whom are marked by achievement and discipline.

The M.B.A.'s have been through the case study system, originated by Harvard Business School. The Great Loom Textile Corp. and the Black Rose Cosmetics Corp. are fictitious, but their business problems are real. Two years of ceaseless attention to maximizing earnings per share produces experts in maximizing earnings per share.

But Cohen does question the system and its products, while admitting its efficiency and competence.

The ceaseless pressure exacts its price. Three suicides in two years, including one professor, make this questioning unavoidable. "Competition is the American way, but competition is a wasteful process," this is the beginning of this questioning. Survivors of this academic rat-race take pride in their ability to survive and in their acquired competency, yet have doubts as to their real value.

The students experience while at HBS. The conflicting demands of competition and cooperation remain unresolved. They win at the practices that go on in class. They wonder at the kind of education that is designed to eliminate people, not to improve them.

The most serious concern is that "training in increasing efficiency and profits means training to de-emphasize all kinds of human values." Vietnam was elsewhere, not in the curriculum.

Not all Harvard M.B.A.'s indulge in self-examination. Peter Cohen emphasizes the great diversity in personality, despite the common denominator of talent and interest.

This reviewer was impelled to look up the catalogue for the Harvard Business School, which states that "the purpose of the M.B.A. program is to provide an opportunity for students to develop knowledge, abilities, attitudes, and understandings which will constitute a foundation for their growth into competent and responsible business administrators."

Does the M.B.A. program accomplish its purpose? From "The Gospel According to the Harvard Business School" the answer is an emphatic yes and no.

Supernatural, repulsive tale 'hooks' critic

By JOY ANTOS

CARRIE by Stephen King. Doubleday, $5.95.

A light-weight novel of repulsive people performing disgusting acts becomes an oddly gripping moral tale of sweet revenge in "Carrie." Although the flashback style in which the story unfolds allows one to know the outcome early, I could not stop reading this book.

The characters of this strange story of supernatural powers include a religious fanatic passing all understanding, a lumpy adolescent tormented by her peers, a vicious rich-bitch, and a greasy hood.

Stereotypes all, but their interactions escalate an act of teen-age cruelty into the fiery destruction of half a town, with the death of hundreds.

The power of the writer is such that the reader becomes persuaded that such extremes are a logical progression of the action: They all had it coming.

Book handles divorce crisis with sensitivity

By DIANA DeNOYELLES
CREATIVE DIVORCE: A New Opportunity for Personal Growth, by Mel Krantzler. M. Evans, $6.95.

There were over 110,000 divorces in California last year. If you have ever experienced the process or state of divorce this could be one of the most important books you may read. Why? Because of what you will learn about yourself and your situation.

A professional counselor, Krantzler sees divorce as an emotional process with its own internal time schedule that can be hastened or delayed, but not eradicated.

As in any major change in one's life, divorce should be looked upon as a major opportunity for personal growth and development.

"More than just a time for picking up the pieces," says Krantzler. "Divorce is a new opportunity to improve upon the past and create a fuller life."

During these changes, personal growth means first becoming aware of their existence, second, acknowledging their significance and finally assuming responsibility for the direction in which they will move.

What makes the book more readable and more interesting than other books on this subject is that the author treats it on a much more sympathetic level. He shares his personal feelings and one feels that this is not just another statistical accumulation or legalistic rehash that someone has put into book form.

Each event, person and idea presented allows readers to see that while their experiences are in many ways unique there are nevertheless common threads uniting everyone in this situation. Once this is understood, the process of coming to terms with past marital relationships can begin—and with it the reshaping of internal life and external circumstances.

This book is a product of these shared insights. Such topics as coming to terms with your past marriage; how to avoid emotional traps of the past, coping with new realities and connecting with your children are discussed and examined.

Krantzler calls himself a divorce specialist. He was motivated into this aspect of counseling work after the breakup of his own 24-year marriage. He has worked with hundreds of people in university seminars and in private practice.

"Society provides widow's weeds and black armbands for those who have lost a spouse through death but it has little to say to the increasing numbers of men and women who need help in getting through the emotional crisis of divorce," states the author. His is a book that does say something.

Ganesha VICA sends 3 to state event

By MELINDA ROBERTS
Ganesha Reporter

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA), recently held a state-wide competition at LA Trade Tech. Representatives from all over California competed in the various events. Representatives and their advisors spent the three days and two nights at the Marriott Hotel in Los Angeles.

Ganesha High School sent three representatives to the competition: Regina Klump, job interview; Wade Albers, offset presswork; and Jim Conlin, cabinet making.

Each student was competing with the 12 other best students in their area. All those competing were chosen at the regionals held throughout the year.

Regina Klump did an outstanding job in the state competition by winning a second-place award in her area of competition. Regina hopes to be able to go to national competition to be held in Texas this summer.

The last day at LA Trade

Tech, the students were visited by Mayor Tom Bradley. Students had put up displays showing their talents. The students held elections for Miss and Mr. VICA and they also elected state officers. There were over 1500 in attendance.

Ganesha High has the only VICA in the Pomona school district. The advisor is Ken Avey. "However, the Ganesha VICA could not exist without the help and support of other persons," Avey said, "and as such I would like to personally thank Mrs. Ryllis Poindexter, Mrs. Phyllis Hageman, Mike Sherrard and Paul Koch." Avey also expresses his thanks to the board of education for financing the club in competition.

World of animals Felines frequently favor high perches

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: I have three cats now two years old. For the past several months they will not walk on any floor in the house if they can help it. They hop from chair to chair, table to table until they get to the nearest exit. They prefer to not even come down to eat. They eat at the table, of course. What's with my high livers? — F.J.

tened by something on the floor. If you want feline feet to favor your floor, check out these possibilities. Perhaps one will solve the puzzle.

DEAR F.J.: Felines frequently favor high perches, places and pathways. One of yours may have extremely strong aerial inclinations and the others have simply played follow-the-leader. Again, their behavior could stem from a basic need such as getting away from floor-bound fleas (in some households, fleas favor felines exclusively though in most they are less discriminating and will chomp on humans). There could also be an odor from the floor, perhaps from a cleaning solution or, maybe a carpet odor of mothproofing or cleaning. Initially, they may even have been frightened by something on the floor.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Black widow spiders don't make good pets for kids, but I am old enough to know how not to handle them. I only made one mistake. I put both of my black widow spiders in one big jar and they got into a fight right away and one got killed. Does this mean they are born hermits? — S.E.

DEAR S.E.: While a black widow isn't born a hermit exactly, it is (in common with most spiders) sort of antisocial. In fact, a baby spider making contact with a brother or sister frequently will end up eating it. This even carries over into adult life; the frequent ending for the mating game — should the male linger a little — is for the female black widow to eat him. Female spiders as well as many other smaller species, routinely combine sex and supper.

Will Spassky win?

The Spassky-Karpov match now going on in the U.S.R. It is widely believed that the winner of this series will be Bobby Fischer's opponent in the world finale next year. Tigran Petrosian, who is meeting Viktor Korchnoi in the other semi-final match, is said as much himself.

Spassky is in the unenviable position of facing youth and destiny. Boris, who is 37 years old, spots Karpov 15 years. But Karpov is not only younger, he is also apparently a future champion in ascendency. Such is the view of an increasingly large section of the world chess community, which has watched his powerful growth in the last two years. For example, Michael Botvinnik, who dominated world chess in a 15-year post World War II period, has predicted that Karpov will be world champion now or next year. If Karpov's talents are as considerable as is generally thought, only the single-minded fighting fury of Fischer can keep him from his inevitable achievement.

Boris himself is not exactly Destiny's founding child. He has already known the dizzying height of the world championship. The aftertaste still lingers. He must want very much to visit the bitter gall of defeat on Fischer.

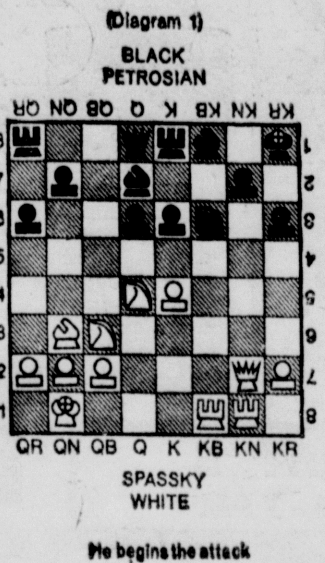

But previously results tell us he may not earn the chance. Since Reykjavik, in addition to several draws, Spassky and Karpov have played one decisive game, which was won by Karpov. And Frank Brady, in his book on Fischer, gives confirmation to the long-standing rumor that Karpov beat Spassky in a "secret" training match in 1972. Brady tells us that "Karpov admitted that such a match took place but was reluctant to discuss the details, other than to say: 'I didn't lose.'"

Spassky nevertheless must still be very seriously reckoned with. He is one of the greatest match players ever to play chess. Under pressure he is able, his loss to Fischer notwithstanding, to exert his will and faculties. He can when he is on his game, be the ultimate opponent.

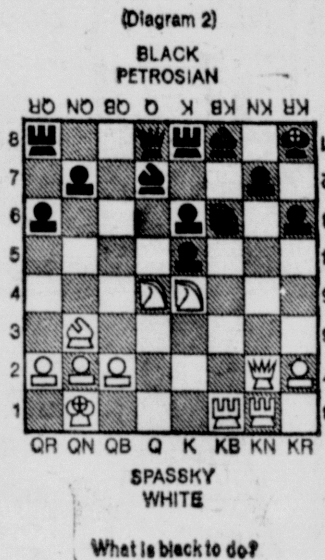

Spassky fans or Fischer fans who wish to see another Spassky-Fischer conflagration can take heart from the following game: Spassky's 24-move win over Petrosian in 1969.

House organs

Hundreds of organs built to provide accompaniment to silent films remain playable. In addition to imitating all the instruments of a band, from drums, trumpets and trombones to violins, clarinets and cymbals, they can duplicate such sound effects as the clanging of a trolley bell, the hooves of galloping horses, bird songs, surf, and even an Oriental gong.

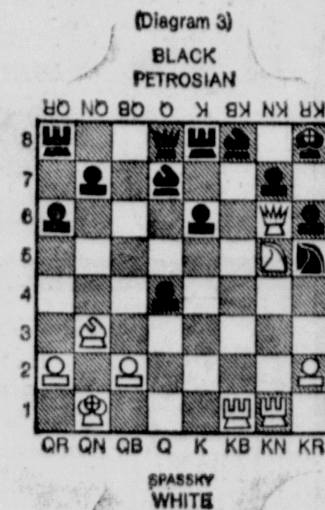

In the first given position, Spassky (white) offers the first of a series of sacrifices. He plays 21. P-K5 and after ... PxP; 22. N-K4, our second position is reached.

The point is that 22... NxN allows 23. RxB check and 24. QxP mate, while 22... PxN is met by 23. NxN with a mating attack. The game continued (from the second diagram) with 22... N-R4; 23. Q-N6!, which Petrosian met with the blunder 23... PxN?

Spassky put an end to the struggle with 24. N-N5! (threatening 25. Q-R7 mate) and Petrosian resigned. You can see in our last diagram that 24... PxN, then 25. Q x N check, K-B1; 26. Q-B7 check, K-R1; 27. R-B3 and mated.

Spassky, the consummate attacker, made mincemeat of the undefended and difficult-to-defend black king position.

Canada plans museum of postal data

Canada's National Postal Museum will be officially opened on Sept. 26 and thereafter, on the following day, will be open to the public. The museum will be situated on the ground floor of the Sir Alexander Campbell Building, Confederation Heights, in Ottawa. Plans are under way to acquire a permanent building by 1978. Stamps from all countries of the world will be on display, as well as postal artifacts, cancellation devices and post office equipment, together with the Smythies' forgeries. A sales counter to resemble the turn of the century post office operating out of a general store, will also be located in the museum and will sell stamps and first-day covers. Mail sent from this office will receive a special cancellation.

New Stamps

Mint letters key element

Numerous readers apparently find it difficult to locate the mint letter on United States Peace dollars issued from 1921 to 1935. And since this microscopic letter is all-important to the value of the coin, this illustration will provide the needed clue.

The letter size varies throughout the series, making it necessary to use a fairly good magnifying glass to identify some of the pieces bearing a small "S" for San Francisco.

Peace dollars were coined at Philadelphia with no mint mark; San Francisco with the mint letter "S" and Denver with "D". In cases where the coin should reflect its point of origin, a tiny "S" or "D" will be found at about eight o'clock, roughly 1-16th of an inch in from the rim, just under the tip of the first sunray. Always on the reverse.

Of the 24 pieces in the Peace series, only one date lends itself to possible alteration to increase its value. The 1928 Philadelphia issue with no mint letter shows a market value of $140. San Francisco specimens (none were minted in Denver in 1928) sell for approximately $70. Consequently it would be profitable to remove the "S" mint letter to create a coin almost twice its value.

So before buying or selling a 1928 Peace dollar, examine the described area closely for possible indications of a mint letter having been removed by cutting or buffing. Secondly, a certificate of authentication from the seller would be advisable if the coin is of exceptional value or condition. The Peace dollar was a commemorative coin issued without congressional authorization. It is the only coin ever struck to commemorate peace, designed by Anthony De Francisci and authorized by the Pittman Act which referred to the bullion to be used and in no way dictated the design.

A 24-piece set in Extremely Fine condition is valued at $2,000 and not impossible to assemble.

Don't hoard
Any contemplated change in the one-cent coin composition will not affect the value of our present penny. To withhold these coins from circulation would be a most costly proposition, and the market could only be depreciated.

Past experience has shown hoarding coins to be of little value as a speculation. There are so many millions of the copper cent already held in jars and boxes that it will be decades before sufficient shortage would provide a demand for other than those pieces considered key coins on the present market.
